Our readers tell us what's hot and what's rot.

You're bound to notice that Face up is different this month. There's a whopping 16 extra pages for starters; there's a cleaner, more sophisticated design; and there are lots of extra features and columns. We even have a new tagline: 'The Number One Student Magazine' - cos that's what we are.

And that's why we've added more student-related features this school year. Worried about study and exams? Well, no need to panic - we've recruited the best possible columnist to write our monthly study tips feature. Cillian Fahy received straight A's in his Leaving Certificate in June 2010 and then sold his notes on eBay for a tidy sum. Now he is writing for us. Short of cash and anxious to make every cent count? Our new column by two of Ireland's top financial writers will help you be Moneywise. Concerned about looking and feeling your best in and out of school? Then, check out our brand new fashion and health columns. Interested in games, gadgets and the latest apps for students? Our resident reviewer is back with a new, expanded column. Want to know what other students are up to? Read our three monthly student diaries, as well as reports and features by readers right around the country. No doubt about it - there's a whole lot of extra meat between those covers this year. We like our new-look mag and we hope you do, too. Let us know what you think of it. We'd love to hear from you.
